

“When I Wake”

Written by Griffin “Harlo” Northcutt and Natalie Claro

Topic: A song about grief. The ambitious nature of the lyrics are to ensure those suffering from the death of a loved one can connect with the message, while still allowing those experiencing another form of loss or distance to relate.

[CHORUS]

Hold on forever
I will hear that voice forever
Wear your heart on my sleeve
Dream about you when I sleep
But when I wake I'll feel the weight again
I'll feel the weight
I'll feel the weight
I'll feel the weight again

[VERSE]

I never hate being alone
I've never needed anyone
But now the silence seems so loud
What's above the water starts to drown
So I've cleared off all my tears
Held what's reflected in the mirror
And now a part of you will forever stay in me
Grows and fills the holes like a puzzle pieces

[CHORUS]

Hold on forever
I will hear that voice forever
Wear your heart on my sleeve
Dream about you when I sleep
But when I wake I'll feel the weight again
I'll feel the weight
I'll feel the weight
I'll feel the weight again

[BRIDGE]

I just wish we stayed where we started
I just wish we stayed where we started
I just wish we stayed where we started
I just wish we stayed where we started
But it's too late
